Join us this month for a social hour with friends. We don't have a speaker lined up, however we will be planning upcoming events, including the Yahara river clean-up dive on October 3. If you're interested in diving or providing canoe or shore support for the river, please join us.

Lake Wazee Pictures

A few folks went to Lake Wazee in August. Here are some of John's pictures from the day!

In the News

Thailand bans some sunscreens

Make sure to check your sunscreen label before visiting a national marine park in Thailand or it could cost you up to $3,000! Sunscreens containing oxybenzone, octinoxate, 4-methylbenzylidene camphor, octocrylene, and butylparaben are banned to prevent further damage to corals. Save those for your Scrabble game and get some reef-friendly sunscreen for your next trip.

Bird's-eye view

Drone footage is showing that human encounters with sharks are much more common than originally thought. Turns out sharks mostly ignore us.

Voice Above Water

Take a look at this short video of 90-year-old Wayan Nyo who has been fishing in Indonesia for 80 years. Recently, he's catching more plastic than fish, and has been cleaning up the ocean.

Cutting-edge dredge

Check out Dane County's new $650,000 dredge as part of an effort to remove built-up sediment from the Yahara River system. The effort will help to reduce flooding in our local lakes.

That's deep

Interesting video of Dubai's 60 meter-deep pool, the deepest in the world. If you ever wanted to play pool or foosball underwater, this is the place for you.
